

Ignacio Durán, MD, PhD

Hospital Universitario Virgen del Rocio,
Seville, Spain

Ignacio Durán is a medical oncologist with interests in clinical and translational research and teaching. He has been the Coordinator of the Genitourinary Oncology Program at the Medical Oncology Department in Hospital Universitario Virgen del Rocio, Seville, Spain since 2012. He is also an Associate professor at the Faculty of Medicine (University of Seville) and collaborates as a co-investigator at the Institute of Biomedicine of Seville (IBIS).

Dr. Durán earned his medical degree in 1997 at the Universidad de Salamanca, Spain, and went on to attain his doctorate in 2005 at the Universidad Complutense, Spain, with highest commendation. Between 2004 and 2007, he completed a fellowship in drug development and genitourinary tumors at the Princess Margaret Cancer Centre in Toronto, Canada, and a master's degree in the teaching of medicine at the University of Toronto.

Dr. Durán is a member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology, the European Society of Medical Oncology, and the Spanish Society of Medical Oncology. His major research interests include genitourinary tumors and anticancer clinical drug development. He has authored numerous publications covering diverse areas of medical oncology in peer-reviewed scientific journals. Throughout his career, Dr. Durán is recipient of the ASCO Foundation Merit Award, the Novartis Young Canadian Investigator Award, and the University Health Network Outstanding Research Presentation Award.
